the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over from 5.5 million to 7.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community, and the importance of the role of the general practitioner (GP) in this regard. The Department of Health (1999) has identified the need to improve the health of older people, and the importance of the role of the GP in this regard. Chelsea Culver enjoys her art class. She's a very talented artist. One of the advantages she sees in her classroom is the opportunity to know other cultures, especially when it comes to creative expression.

Natalya Maksimchuk comes to our community from the Ukraine. Her art skills are amazing. Her work has adorned the hall displays for the two years she has been at GHS.

Yearbook Information

—Mailing Available: You can have your yearbook mailed to you (within the United States) by filling out an address form with the bookkeeper and pay $5.00 for postage.

—Book pickup: We are not responsible to hold your book beyond Dec. 20, 2006. It is your responsibility to pick up your book. Should we sell out of books before the 20th, we will refund your money in full. After that date your money will not be refunded. You may have someone else pick up your book for you, they just have to sign for it.

—Created by your peers: we, the yearbook staff, hope you enjoy your copy of "School of One." We strive for excellence in producing the best yearbook possible. This year our book was totally created on computer, a great new experience for us. We apologize for any errors that may have occurred, this is all part of the learning experience. * GHS Yearbook Staff

School Of One

RIGHT: Matt Nafziger, Devin Coyne, Peter Martin, Jason Lauer, Timothy Nisley, and Luke Shelly participate in the freshmen Orientation the summer before their freshmen year. The orientation helps freshmen students coming into the high school to better understand their classes and where they are located so their first day of high school is not so troubling and intimidating.

RIGHT: Justin Fievel does his own schoolwork in Industrial Technology. During this class, they are making bottles in shed for storing as well as a luxurious playhouse for a young child.

RIGHT: Kylee Woodford utilizes a computer in the library after school hours. Goshen High School gives students the opportunity to have computer access as well as any book in the library after school to help develop a better education.

"Building a School of One: One School's Journey"

"Building a School of One: One School's Journey" is the title of the book written by administrators expressing and capturing a little glimpse of what our school is all about. Being the largest percentage of English as a new language students in the whole state, our teachers have a lot to share. This idea was brought about by assistant principal, Phil Lederach, but principal, Jim Kirkton, brought the book together writing the first few chapters. After the introduction of the book, the chapters following are written by the people who experience the students and their struggles first hand, a teacher from every subject department; this makes Goshen's book unique to others. This book consists of the school's change from a teacher-centered environment to a student-centered environment. Chapters describe Student Resource Time, Freshmen Academy, after-hour programs such as Merit Learning Center, and the Individual departments. The profit goes towards the school and students who can not necessarily afford their own payments. Over 1,000 copies of the book have been sold nationwide. Another book is planning to be written on the student's perspective. Kirkton expresses that, "The hard part now is that we are doing more now. Change is constant-it is hard to keep up. Somewhere we had to stop and go with it from there."

LEFT Principal Jim Kirkton and Assistant Principal Phil Lederach were two key components of putting the book together and making it work.

RIGHT The Merit Learning Center learning is done all on the computer. This is to their great advantage because everyone can learn at their own pace.

RIGHT During SRIT at Williams Middle School, Tracy Kinn and Jacob Beckley attend a meeting in the auditorium. SRIT is also used as a time for club meetings and performances. Drivers education, which takes place over the summer, is offered to the SRIT students.

RIGHT During SRIT the library is open for students like Jessica Gill and Yareli Garcia to do research and work on computers.

This year the ENL program is growing in leaps and bounds! They've added another sheltered class for students who speak very little English, two new collaborators, and we have the highest number of students ever in the program. Forty different birth countries are represented by flags in the cafeteria. Twenty different languages are spoken by students at GHS. The three most common languages here are Spanish, Russian, and Japanese.

Homecoming 2005

“Out Of This World”

Goshen High School's Homecoming was held on Friday, September 23, 2005. This year's theme was “Out of This World,” and the class floats were based on outer space themes. The Redskins put up a fight against Warsaw and beat the Tigers. Anthony Garber and Caitlin Kleinsmith were crowned Homecoming King and Queen and a dance was held in the gym after the game.

Stratford

Stratford Experience is an out-of-school class offered every fall semester at Goshen High School. Students read and study five plays or musicals during the summer and fall, and the class culminates in a three-day trip to the Stratford Festival in Stratford, Ontario. Here, students watch and analyze the five productions. Ranking near the top of GHS's extracurricular offerings, Stratford presents opportunities for literary growth, cultural experiences, peer bonding, and memorable times in the lovely town of Stratford.

Goshen High School has a blood drive every Winter and Spring. Many of the older students and teachers participate and many pints of blood are donated. This Spring, Goshen High School almost beat the record of the amount of blood produced at one place, but was a bit short. The blood drive is a big way that Goshen High School helps the community and hopefully saves many lives.

by Crystal Newcomer

March 2007

Crystal Newcomer and Keisha Morrison are among the students listening to one of the presentations. "I consider myself a considerably bless person." She shared with students that she began her writing during boring classes when she would write in her notebook. Being ADD she has been able to corral those thoughts into great YA books.

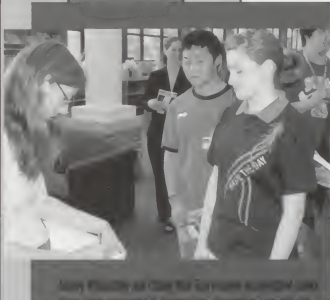

Best-selling author, Laurie Halse Anderson, visits GHS.

by Carrie Isomge

"It's hard to write and it's even harder to write well," best-selling author Laurie Halse Anderson told the GHS Auditorium May 17. Anderson visited on behalf of senior Chelsey Wardlaw who wrote a sequel to Anderson's book "Prom." Wardlaw's story was chosen winner in a national writing contest earlier this year.

Anderson spoke to groups of students about her books, her career and her life as well as some advice to the students.

Media Specialist, Therese Collins, as well as being the one to enter Wardlaw's writing, made all of the arrangements for the big event. Students were able to listen to the author speak at several different times during the day in the auditorium and in the media center.

Laurie Halse Anderson and Chelsey Wardlaw, the author of the book "Prom," which was chosen by students who attended the session and had read at least one of her books.

Wardlaw's sister and mother attended the day of celebration. During lunch with Anderson members of the English Department and administrators joined in conversations with the author. Ted Mahnensmith listens as Anderson speaks of her love of history.

Anderson was molested as a young person and did not speak of it until she was an adult. Her book "Speak" addresses this issue, in a modern tone.

BLOOD DRIVE

Goshen High School has a blood drive every Winter and Spring. Many of the older students and teachers participate and many pints of blood are donated. This Spring, Goshen High School almost beat the record of the amount of blood produced at one place but was a bit short. The blood drive is a big way that Goshen High School helps the community and hopefully saves many lives.

Cian Deegan Benefit Concert

Cian Deegan was the first GHS student to be chosen to go to Valencia, Spain through the IU Honors Program in Foreign Language. This is a very prestigious and competitive program in which Cian had to take a written and oral test, fill out numerous forms and written questions, and had to be interviewed in both Spanish and English. He also had to sign a pledge not to use English at all during his stay. During the 2006 summer, Cian stayed in the Spain with a family for seven weeks.

Washington, D.C. Trip

March 23-26, 2006

On March 23, 2006, Goshen High School's advanced choirs and Symphonic and Philharmonic orchestras left for the Heritage Music Festival in Washington, D.C. The trip lasted four days and included sight-seeing, tours of the city, seeing the musical "Hot Feet," eating at different restaurants and, of course, participating in the Festival itself. Goshen performed very well and brought home several awards, including the Sweepstakes Trophies (best over-all) for both choir and orchestra.

This year Goshen High School put on the musical "Into the Woods." There were multiple lead roles, which was a change from the previous years. Students involved did a great job of learning the difficult music. This musical combined several fairy tales to make one magical performance, and in the end we knew that everyone had a reason to go into the Woods.

Your senior year is a bitter sweet time. So many lasts to recognize-the last first day of school, the last time you'll go to prom, and the last time you'll ask someone to call in for you because you are late. At the same time, there are so many firsts as you begin your adult life-the first time you move away from home, the first time you get yourself up and to class, and the first time you have no rules to follow but your own. We wish you much love & luck as you begin this great journey. You make us proud each day. We love your smile, your energy, and your heart. Congratulations!

Valerie,

You are a wonderful daughter, sister, and friend! You have become a wonderful young lady. As parents, you always talk about your children with pride, but in your case, it's usually others talking to us about what a great person you are! Your kindness, sense of humor, and tenacity are traits that will serve you well! Congratulations!

Baby Girl,
I once heard that when you have a child of your own how fast the time will go by. Oh, how true that is! Seems like yesterday I was sending you off to your first day of kindergarten and now I'm watching you graduate and sending you off on your own. You have been such a joy to watch grow over the past 18 years. It has been such a gift watching you grow into the beautiful, confident, loving, caring, person you have become. I'm so proud of all the things you have achieved and am looking forward to seeing all the other amazing things that will come your way. Even though you are leaving behind so many great memories, there are so many more to look forward to. As you begin the next journey in your life, just remember that no matter what or where you are, keep reaching for the stars, follow God, believe in yourself, and all your dreams will come true. Once again, I'm so proud of you! Always remember that now, always, and forever you'll be my baby girl!

Love, Mom

Laura Dick

Dear Laura,

It's been a joy to be your parents, nurturing you from a cute cuddly baby into the beautiful, intelligent, and wise woman you've become.

You've always had the gifts of relating to people of all ages and a delightful sense of humor. You've proven to be a dedicated and focused worker. As you use your many gifts in service to God and to people, we can't wait to see where it leads. We love you!

Andrew,

What a wonderful young man you have become. We can't help but smile as we think back over the years of your humor and the determination you have shown to accomplish what you have set out to do. We are so proud of you and feel truly blessed to be your parents. You have had to deal with circumstances in your life that others have not. You have never felt sorry for yourself but only worked harder to be the best you can be. Keep your faith in God. We are praying for you as you enter a new phase of your life.

Where has the time gone?! It seems like just yesterday Dad and I were bringing you home from the hospital for the first time. Somehow, time didn't stand still for us and the years and memories have flown by. We are so proud of you and all the things you have accomplished. You have overcome great obstacles in your life and have come out shining. From your winning smile to your loving heart, you have grown into a young man of great character. Thank you for all the joy and happiness you have brought into our lives. Our lives have been so richly blessed by having you as our son and brother. God has great things planned for your life and we can't wait to see all that He has in store for you. Know that we love you more than you will ever know and that we are so very proud to be called your family.

Ben,

You have given us so much to be proud of especially in your hard work and dedication to be the best person that you can be. You have grown into a kind and wonderful young man.

Your kind and tender heart, and your commitment to walk and lead a Christian life will help you accomplish much in your lifetime. As you start your new path of life, keep your head high and look forward to the future, and you will accomplish your goals that you have set for yourself. Thank you for all the wonderful memories you have given to our family over the past several years. You are a blessing sent from Heaven above, a huggable reminder of God's unfailing love.

Love you forever,

Hope and healing begin here.

Every person, no matter how troubled, is worthy of love and care. For many, hope and healing begin with the programs and services available at Oaklawn.

Oaklawn has served the community since 1962 with the professional skills, innovative programs and empathetic care needed to treat those suffering from mental illness and addictions.
